Soviet leader orders halt to deployments

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev said he wants to meet with President Reagan and has ordered a halt until November in Soviet deployment of medium-range nuclear siles in Europe, the official news agency Tass reported Sunday.

Gorbachev said the Soviet Union's decision on further missile deployment after that time "depends on whether the United States follows our example: Will it stop or not the deployment of its intermediate-range missiles in Europe."

Tass quoted the new Soiviet leader as making the statements in an interview with the Communist Party newspaper Pravda. It did not say when the interview was conducted, or indicate a publication date.

In Santa Barbara, Calif., where Reagan is vacationing, presidential spokesman Larry Speakes said administration officials were aware of the reports from Moscow but had no immediate comment.

Vice President George Bush carried a letter from Reagan to Gorbachev when he attended the March 13 funeral in Moscow of President Konstantin U. Chernenko. The White House disclosed the letter invited the new Soviet leader to the United States. Reagan has indicated he would be willing to meet Gorbachev at the opening of the U.N. General Assembly in September.

In the Tass report, the news agency said Gorbachev discussed the possibility of a summit with Reagan and quoted him as saying: "The question of such a meeting was dealt with in my correspondence with President Reagan. I can say that a positive attitude to such a meeting being held was expressed from both sides. Its time and place will be the subject of subsequent arrangement."

Gorbachev said the correspondence discussed ways to improve relations between the superpowers.

"We offer the government of the United States to conduct the matter in such a way that it would be seen to all our peoples, to other countries, that the political courses of the U.S.S.R. and the United States are oriented not at hostility and confrontation but at the search of mutual understanding and peaceful development," he said.

He was quoted as saying that the Soviets also wanted to demonstrate their good will by halting deployments of medium-range missiles which the Soviet Union has said were necessary to counter NATO deployments of U.S. missiles in Europe.

"We are prepared to demonstrate our good will again. And starting with this day, and I want to emphasize this, the Soviet Union is introducing a moratorium on the deployment of its intermediate-range missiles and suspending the implementation of other reply measures in Europe.

"The duration of this moratorium is until November of this year," he said.

NATO says the Soviet Union has deployed 414 triple-warhead, intermediate range SS-20 missiles in Eastern Europ. The deployment of 572 new U.S. Pershing 2 and cruise missiles in Western Europe is designed to counter the Soviet deployment.

Rates to decrease for double room while price of single remains same

by Amy Zurawski

Living in a double room in one of Eastern's residence halls during the five and eight week summer sessions will be less expensive this year.

Housing Director Lou Hencken said the cost of a double room for the five week session has gone down $35 from last summer's $254 price to $219.

In addition, the cost of a double room for the eight week session has decreased $60 from last summer's price of $400 to $340, he said.

The rates are lower this summer because "when more people stay in the halls (during the summer sessions), we are able to offer them at a lower cost," Hencken said.

He added that the number of summer conferences Eastern hosts also decreases the amount students are charged for living in the halls during summer sessions.

"I think offering lower prices encourages more students to stay in the halls for summer," he said. "Summer school is a good time to get a couple of extra classes in while the rates are less expensive."

Although Hencken said the cost of single rooms for the five and eight week sessions and intersession has not gone down, the prices will also not increase.

The cost of a single room for the five week session is $303, the same price as last year, he noted. A single room for the eight week session is $465. A single room for intersession is $219 and a double room is $119.

In addition, Hencken said 25 University Apartments will be made available to juniors, seniors and graduate students at the regular cost.

The apartments, which are usually open only to married and graduate students, will be available according to class rank.

"The University Apartments offer a change of life style to students who are interested in trying off-campus living," Hencken said.

Admissions post interviews begin

by Lori Edwards

Interviews for a director of admissions begin Monday with the first of five candidates who are still in contention for the post.

Tamara Bouseman, assistant to the director of admissions and records at the University of Illinois, will be on campus Monday to begin the interviewing process.

Bouseman is scheduled to be interviewed by the admissions staff, the search committee, the student affairs personnel committee and Samuel Taber, dean of student academic services.

In the afternoon, Bouseman is scheduled to meet with the Council of Deans and Glenn Williams, vice president for student affairs.

Bouseman will also meet with faculty, staff and students at 1 p.m. Monday in the Union 1895 Room.

Interviews will continue through April 26 with the other four admissions candidates: Constance Campbell, Billy Holloway, Michael Turnbull and Dale Wolf.

The position, which pays $2,500 to $3,000 monthly, was vacated by John Beacon, who left to take a similar position at Oklahoma State University at Stillwater, Okla. Pamela Hadwiger, an admissions counselor, is serving as acting director.

Williams said applicants should have past experience, competency in the field and a Master's degree.

Bouseman holds a master in education from the U of I.

Eastern President Stanley Rives will make the final decision on the post with the advice of Williams and the search committee, which is headed by Wilson Luquire.

New disposal methods sought

SPRINGFIELD—Facing a 1987 ban on landfill disposal of hazardous wastes, Illinois manufacturers, environmentalists and state officials are looking for new, safer ways to get rid of the nearly 400 million gallons of hazardous garbage generated in the state each year.

Until recently, the disposal method preferred by hazardous waste generators was, essentially, a hole in the ground—a landfill.

Landfills were considered the cheapest, easiest way to dispose of hazardous waste and companies developing new methods of treatment and disposal.

"We have to get away from the dump truck-bulldozer mentality," said Jim Frank, IEPA spokesman. "We know that landfill is the cheapest way—short term. But if you look at all the potential problems, it's not the cheapest way in the long run."

Study finds babies intelligent

CHICAGO—They're cute, they're cuddly and they're smarter than most people think.

They're babies and researchers at the University of Illinois at Chicago say brain wave studies indicate that infants are remarkably intelligent.

Rathe Karrer, a psychology professor, said babies have traditionally been thought of as little more than passive blobs.

But Karrer and other scientists have discovered in recent years that the typical baby can distinguish lines, shapes and brightness. A month later the baby can pick simple patterns and at six months the infant can recognize faces.

The average 1-year-old can categorize things in groups. For example, he can understand that a teddy bear has more in common with a stuffed dog than it does a chair.

At 18 months, he can understand cause-and-effect. If a toy train heads toward a pile of building blocks, the baby realizes the train will topple the blocks.

Mondale talks on his defeat

WASHINGTON (AP)—Walter F. Mondale, looking back on his landslide defeat in the 1984 presidential election, said Sunday he "fundamentally mishandled my case to the American people" by failing to emphasize the positive side of his message.

"They heard opportunity from the other side, they didn't hear it from me," the former Democratic presidential nominee said in an interview on NBC's "Meet the Press."

It was Mondale's first appearance in a national forum since the November election in which President Reagan carried 49 states for one of the most lopsided re-election victories in American history. Mondale carried only his home state of Minnesota and the District of Columbia.

Mondale said he continues to believe "I was essentially correct on the fundamental issues," but, he added that he was no match for President Reagan when it came to communicating with the American people.

"The fact of the matter is, President Reagan's ability to communicate—even things that I think are demonstrably not accurate—verges on genius," said Mondale. "I don't think anybody accused me of the same capability."

In the future, he said the Democrats "must find a candidate who, in addition to being right on the issues and stating them correctly, can master this modern challenge of communication in this huge country of ours."

Pope Paul II gives Easter message

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John Paul II, in his Easter Sunday message, decried the human rights violations, wars and "ideologies that instill hatred" which plague the world 40 years after the end of World War II.

More than 250,000 people jammed St. Peter's Square to rejoice in the resurrection of Jesus. Tens of thousands more marched through Rome to the Vatican in cool but sunny weather to protest world hunger.

Millions of Roman Catholics followed the ceremonies on live television in 35 countries.

John Paul looked refreshed, despite a midnight Mass at St. Peter's Basilica, as he celebrated Easter Mass.

At the end of the more than two-hour ceremony, John Paul moved to the balcony over the main door of the basilica to deliver his traditional message "Urbi et Orbi"—to the city (Rome) and the world.

The pope said that for nearly 2,000 years since Jesus rose from the dead, leaving an empty tomb, mankind looks upon all tombs and "questions itself. . . especially when the tombs and the hurricane of violence and destruction caused by war."

The Polish-born pontiff, who lived through the Nazi occupation of his homeland, said: "Spontaneously our memory goes back to 40 years ago when. . . the Second World War, unleashed by a mad imperialist ideology, was coming to a close."

"Forty years ago the war ended. Has peace, as a result of just order, been truly affirmed?"

He answered his own question, saying that the answer was no, in a world where, "human rights are denied. . . where places of torture, segregation and camps of inhuman labor continue to reap innumerable victims. . . where millions of children and adults are left to die because of want, drought and malnutrition."

At the end of his address, John Paul delivered greetings in 47 languages, including Cambodian for the first time.

Akins has fresh, innovative ideas for Student Senate

Editor's note: The following story is the first in a series of five describing the goals of those students who plan to run for student body president. This story explains what senior Floyd Akins plans to do if elected to that post.

by Angela Paoli

In 1962, the year senior Floyd Akins was born, Clayborne Dungy was elected Eastern's first black student body president. Akins hopes to imitate Dungy's feat on April 17.

Akins said he believes he has the fresh and innovative ideas needed to be an effective student body president, and he hopes to accomplish many things if elected.

One of Akins' plans is to unify the Student Senate. "Presently, the senate is separated into two groups—those that are with the senate speaker and those that are not," Akins said.

He added that he hopes to bring the senate together on all decisions which affect students. "I believe the student government needs new people with fresh ideas that are not all political," Akins said.

Akins said he wants to see the students adequately represented in senate, adding, "I want the students to bring their ideas and opinions to us."

In addition, he said he is interested in Eastern's security problem. "I am tired of the crime on campus, and it can be stopped," Akins said.

Floyd Akins

He said he is working on a security plan which he believes could be a "great benefit" to Eastern with the proper administrative and student backing.

If elected, Akins said he has a proposed plan to reform student government committees.

Akins said he plans to have a committee recruitment program in which interested non-senate students voluntarily sign up to become committee members.

These students would be educated about the various committees and given a choice as to which committee they want to become involved on, he explained.

"This will give students the chance to get involved and also help make the needed changes in student government," Akins said.

In addition, Akins said he believes he has a good working relationship with students and administration. He added that the leadership qualities he developed as University Board chairman make him confident in running the student body.

During his sophomore year at Eastern, Akins was appointed as production coordinator for UB and managed the lighting and sound effects for UB productions and events.

Akins also said he increased attendance at UB events over 100 percent while chairman.

A speech-communications major from Chicago and graduate of Julian High School, Akins has long-range goals of becoming involved in the television industry and considers his experience in public relations and leadership development a plus in helping to achieve his long-range goals.

However, Akins said his main concern now is becoming the next student body president.

Senate elections heat up

by Julie Zook

Twenty-nine petitions were turned in last week for 15½ open senator positions which will be up for grabs in the April 17 student government elections.

News scoops up five-star rating

by Amy Zurawski

The fall semester 1984 Daily Eastern News has received its sixth consecutive five-star All-American rating from the Associated Collegiate Press, a national critiquing service for student publications.

Madeleine Doubek, 1984 fall semester editor in chief, said she believes the News staff's hard work is reflected in the rating.

"The community can take pride in the paper because they are receiving an outstanding public service," she said. "And the staff is receiving an excellent learning experience."

The ACP reviews papers in five categories—coverage and content, writing and editing, opinion content, design and photography and graphics. The paper received marks of distinction, which recognizes creativity and imagination in a publication, in all categories.

Correction

It was incorrectly reported in Wednesday's Daily Eastern News that the Radio TV Center's renovations will include a 400-watt FM radio antenna. The antenna will actually be 4000-watts.

The story also erroneously reported that the center is looking for five to seven full-time professionals. The center is not hiring any such employees.

The News regrets these errors.

Amendment should ensure representation

The proposed amendment to the Student Senate constitution should achieve its desired goal of getting more students involved, but further work needs to be done.

The senate amendment, which changes the required 12 semester hours to no hour requirement, will ensure the availability of student government positions to all students. No student should be barred from participating in a student activity because they are not full-time.

However, a student should not be allowed to serve for an unlimited amount of time on the senate or in a student government executive office.

The senate provides students with an opportunity to learn valuable leadership skills. A senate seat should not be monopolized by a student, who by taking three hours a semester, will be at Eastern for several years.

The possibility exists that this student could be voted into student government time after time as the voice of experience. Then, the learning experience may be denied to a student who would gain from it.

Even the office of President of the United States is limited to two consecutive four-year terms. The senate should consider a similar limitation on the number of years a student can hold a position.

Student government has to remain open to all Eastern students. The elimination of the hour requirement will help make senate more accessible, but further amendments should be looked into that will prohibit a few students from monopolizing student government.

Students should vote yes to support the amendment, which will be placed on the April 17 student government election ballot, with the hopes that an additional, complementary amendment will be studied.

If the amendment is passed, students who are not attending full-time, but are interested in holding a student government position should make sure that their other time commitments do not inhibit their contributions to student government.

The senate should be concerned with ensuring the best democratic representation possible.

Business Week set

Editor:

The week of April 8-12 has been designated as Business Week here on Eastern's campus. Events beyond your wildest imagination have been planned to thrill and excite you throughout this period.

Just to tantalize you a tad I will mention a mere pittance of the various events planned: a "Dress for Excellence" fashion show, a student/faculty volleyball game featuring The Blair Hall Setters and The Coleman Hall Spikers, an ice cream social and Mr. and Mrs. Business Executive Elections.

Also, an open forum featuring Dr. Bruce McDonald, program manager for Nuclear Management at General Electric; Dr. Jim Moore, marketing professor at SIU-Carbondale and Dr. Lowell Bourne, chairman of the Accounting, Data Processing and Finance Department here at Eastern.

In addition, there will be student business organization exhibits, and convocation speaker will be Jim Lutovsky, president of the Metro Decatur

Illinois Chamber of Commerce.

This is just the proverbial drop in the bucket compared with the vast multitude of events planned. I strongly urge all students to read their Eastern News everyday scouring it for the details of these and other events.

'Academic Senate' is unwarranted

The draft of the UPI-BOG proposed contract has the curious provision of making one out of an incongruent duo—and then saying the faculty of Eastern Illinois University will be gaining.

But the proposal to replace the Faculty Senate and the Council on Academic Affairs is flawed in several respects.

First, there is the method of the "odd couple" marriage. The proposal violates the democratic precepts of a university faculty by limiting the faculty's voice in campus governance. The union is restricting even token input on the question of the creation of the "Academic Senate" to card-carrying members. No dues paying membership, no choice. Shades of the unconstitutional poll tax!

The rationale for the UPI-BOG proposal is also suspect. It doesn't seem to be an organizational improvement. The proposal takes two elected groups with disparate jurisdictions, eliminates both groups, and then utilizes the functions of one (CAA) to atone for the gutting of the other (the Faculty Senate).

The proposed "Academic Senate" would take over the prime functions of the CAA—"approval of new courses, and new and expanded programs, changes in courses and programs," etc. The proposed "senate" would also have jurisdiction over "policies for allocation of space for instructional activities and offices of academic employees, and policies for the allocation of travel budget for academic employees."

It appears that the CAA is being dismantled to give the proposed "Academic Senate" something to do because the current Faculty Senate constitution would be eradicated by UPI-BOG fiat. Given that the functions of the CAA would be transferred to the proposed "senate" and the jurisdiction of the current Faculty Senate eliminated, it seems reasonable to assume that the real purpose of the UPI-BOG proposal is to eliminate the Faculty Senate or at least make its proposed successor, the "Academic Senate," a political eunuch.

My assumption that the UPI-BOG leadership is out to hobble the Faculty Senate comes from my experience as a member of the Faculty Senate's executive committee for the 1983-84 term. During that academic year the Faculty Senate released its study which compared wages at EIU to those at other BOG schools. The study was critical of the UPI-BOG approach and asked the union leadership to push for an "equity increase" for EIU faculty and staff. There was no support for this request on the part of the top UPI-BOG leadership. The union leadership seemed irritated by the Faculty Senate study and cautioned us against becoming involved in collective bargaining.

Viewpoint:

Richard Goodrick

The Faculty Senate stressed that it was not involved in collectively bargaining. We recognized that collective bargaining is the legal function of the UPI-BOG and the designated representatives of the five BOG presidents and the members of the BOG itself. The Faculty Senate was engaged in fact finding and in urging those responsible for negotiating the contract to correct salary inequities at EIU.

EIU's Faculty Senate functions as both an advocate and an ombudsman for the EIU faculty and staff. The Faculty Senate can seek to remedy shortcomings that no one else is aware of, or is unwilling to admit exist let alone correct, at EIU. Conversely, the UPI-BOG has to consider the needs of all the BOG schools in its system-wide approach.

Under the current constitution the Faculty Senate can examine a variety of items such as evaluation of faculty and deans, reorganization of colleges and departments, elections and other means of staffing the various campus committees, as well as providing an open forum for the discussion of scholarships, band trips, summer school offerings, pre-payment of student fees, snow removal, affirmative action, etc.

Under the changes proposed by the UPI-BOG, the "Academic Senate" would function mainly as a surrogate CAA. This would be accomplished by decimating the CAA in order to legitimize an "Academic Senate." Yet, both the Faculty Senate and the CAA perform needed functions. Neither should be eliminated in the fiction that change equals improvement.

Maybe this is all a moot point since the UPI-BOG does not automatically have the unilateral power to decimate the campus organization(s) of its choice. Before the UPI-BOG has that "right," negotiators representing the presidents of the BOG schools and the members of the BOG itself have to consent.

—Richard Goodrick is a political science instructor and was chairman of Faculty Senate in 1983-84.

Debate teaches

Editor:

Marty Slouka said in your April 4 edition that he'd had enough of the liberal-conservative fight and that we should forget such matters.

I want to say that this debate of the past few weeks has educated more students on government and politics. Slouka should consider that perhaps if this debate was louder or had been going for a longer time, the students might have gotten out to vote and could have even changed the mayor's race to his candidate.

Instead, it is this "ostrich syndrome"—sticking one's head in the sand—that can threaten democracy. It was this attitude that led to the falls of the Roman Empire and the pre-Hitler Weimar Republic. It's this attitude that leads to the loss of rights in Communist takeovers today.

So wake up, let people learn—unless you're afraid people will disagree with your views when they become better informed.

Reporting factual

Editor:

As a current member of the Council on Academic Affairs and a former foreign correspondent for the Associated Press, I can appreciate both the substance of the debate on the proposed academic senate which took place in CAA on April 4, and the difficulty of accurately reporting it to the readers of The Daily Eastern News. I would therefore like to congratulate reporter Maureen Foertsch for her masterful handling of the story on this subject which appeared in the April 5 issue of the News. Her investigative approach in getting at both sides of the story, her clarity in presenting these sides, and her accuracy in regard to the story's factual content are all remarkable for their excellence.

Final exams 'frustrating' event, ought to be eliminated

This last hurried month of school is a good time to recommend a change in evaluating student progress: We professors ought to eliminate traditional final examination.

The final exam is a frustrating event for many students and a major time-waster for most. Unfortunately, both teachers and students believe that "test" is an exact synonym for "assess." We all thereby fail to look for more effective assessment techniques.

Even worse, the final examination (particularly where it represents all or most of a semester's grade) fosters attitudes and behaviors which both inhibit long-term learning and turns students away from the subjects we want them to respect and enjoy.

Some of the unfortunate concomitants of finals are:

- *memorizing information which is forgotten right away.

- *waiting until the last moment to cram, rather than studying throughout the term.

- *attempting to predict what is likely to be included on the test.

- *playing the "Guess the Meaning" game with ambiguous test questions.

- *figuring the points needed to generate a given grade, rather than focusing on the learning for its own sake.

- *trying to produce thoughtful essay responses without prior knowledge of the questions that are to be asked.

- *attempting to work quickly and accurately under arbitrary time constraints that are rarely found anywhere else in adult life.

- *accepting information reproduced for a test as either the only or the most important outcome of learning.

- *cheating and using other unethical methods to prepare for and pass examinations.

- *reinforcing an authoritarian teacher-pupil relationship.

- *coping with anxieties that occur before, during and after the examination.

- *failing to learn from mistakes on the exam, since follow-up sessions after finals are not feasible.

Alternative means of evaluation are well described in the professional literature. One example is mastery learning, where students pursue specific instructional objectives without penalty until these are achieved.

Viewpoint:

Harold Malehorn

Another possibility is to accept as evidence of learning the student's daily assignments. A dossier filled with papers and projects speaks eloquently of a pupil's effort, or lack of it.

A third method is contracted learning, which stipulates criteria and conditions under which learning is to occur. The opportunity for students to negotiate some of the elements enhances their interest and involvement.

Programmed instruction has been used effectively (but sparingly) for more than 50 years. Here again the pace and the content can be individualized, with demonstrated competencies the goal.

Checklists, anecdotal records, narrative descriptions, peer evaluations and self-assessments are still other options.

In short, we need a change. This two-hour activity at the end of each term could well be converted into a capstone experience for each course.

It's time we had our final finals.

—Harold Malehorn is an instructor of elementary and junior high education and author of numerous books on teaching methods.

Reagan deserves credit for Japanese auto decision

In what has been labeled as "a severe blow to the recovering U.S. vehicle industry" by UAW union President Owen Beiber, President Reagan recently announced that he does not intend to ask the Japanese government to continue its voluntary restraints on automobile exports to the United States.

The program expired at the end of March.

Since 1981, Japan has voluntarily limited its automobile exports to $1.85 billion in an effort to aid the once-failing American auto industry. During this period of lower competition from the Japanese, the U.S. auto manufacturers have drastically increased the price of their product which resulted in a record $10 billion profit last year.

According to a recent estimate by the Federal Trade Commission (FTC), this healthy profit is the consequence of an extra $1.1 billion-a-year price tag on both domestic and Japanese cars paid by

Crossview:

Daily Vidette

American consumers—approximately $394 per automobile.

Opponents of Reagan's policy, particularly major American car manufacturers, fear plant closings and "the creation of jobs in Japan at the expense of jobs for American workers."

However, Reagan deserves the benefit of the doubt in this situation.

He has stated that his main incentive behind this decision was to hopefully receive reciprocal treatment by Japan. This signal indicating increased trade with other countries comes at a time when new statistics show a record deficit of U.S. foreign trade.

According to the March 19 issue of The Christian Science Monitor, the U.S. government reported that foreign trade by the United States fell to an alarming and embarrassing record deficit of $101.6 billion last year. With Japanese cooperation, perhaps the United States could revive its "deteriorating trade picture."

The restraint on Japanese imports also brought about restraints on competition in the American market. As competition becomes a barrier to U.S. auto makers, better quality cars as well as lower prices from both Japan and American industries can be expected for American consumers.

With four years to regain their composure, the American vehicle industry has had plenty of time to enhance their product and beef up productivity and efficiency to fairly compete with the rapidly expanding Japanese industry.

Rent-a-Thumbbody

Students perform odd jobs for faculty

by Annette Seymour

Eastern faculty and staff members now have the opportunity to hire students to perform odd jobs for less than minimum wage.

The Residence Hall Association is sponsoring the Rent-A-Thumbbody program as a fundraiser to partially finance Eastern's delegation to the National Association of College and University Residence Halls convention in Florida in May.

For $2 per hour on campus and $3 per hour off-campus, faculty and staff can hire an RHA member to do odd jobs, RHA member Dave Ascolani said.

Twenty-two Thumbodies are available to faculty and staff members for various tasks such as doing laundry, baby sitting, raking leaves, car washing, typing and filing.

In addition, Thumbodies can be specifically requested. A promotional flier, advertising the program, was sent to faculty and staff members just prior to spring break, which includes a complete list of the students participating.

Ascolani said the program is currently geared toward only faculty and staff members because of the type of jobs for which the workers are available.

Ascolani said a lot of faculty members need their leaves raked or shrubs pulled, adding that the service is not currently open to students because "how many students need that?"

However, he said if the program is successful, there is a possibility of it being opened to students next semester.

The fund raiser will continue through the end of the spring semester.

'King Delta' weekend set

by Laurie Schuette

Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc., will hold its ninth annual "King Delta" Weekend starting Monday.

The theme of the weekend is "Everlasting love. . . in D.S.T.," Beverly Williams, vice president of Delta Sigma Theta, said. Various activities during the week will lead up to the "King Delta" weekend.

The activities start off with a Splash Party from 7 to 9 p.m. at Lantz gym Monday night.

A Little Sister volleyball tournament will be held Tuesday, from 8 to 10 p.m. in McAfee gymnasium.

Krackers Disco will host Delta

Night, Wednesday from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m.

There will be a Bowling Party Thursday starting at 7 p.m. at the University Union Bowl.

A "Dedication to the Greeks" party will be held Friday, from 11 p.m. until 2 a.m. at the University Union.

Saturday from 10 p.m. until 2 a.m. is the grand finale with the "Coronation of the King" dance in the Old Ballroom of the University Union.

"We're hoping that everyone will enjoy our week and that it has an everlasting impact on everyone," Williams said.

Nuclear war film set for Monday

"Faith, War and Peace in the Nuclear Age" will be the last of three films on nuclear war sponsored by the Coles County Grassroots Peace Initiative at the Wesley Foundation Monday at 7 p.m.

Eastern philosophy instructor Robert Barford will lead a discussion on the film and the latest related political trends after the film's showing.

The movie is an examination of the issue of war and peace from an ethical and religious perspective and offers an interfaith approach to the arms race, Judy Chapman, GPI spokesman, said in a press release.

The film connects disarmament with the issues of justice, hunger, poverty, intervention in Central America and responsibilities to our children, Chapman added.

At last month's meeting, the group passed out information on the effect of a nuclear freeze on the economy and the connection between a nuclear freeze and the farm crisis.

Softballers start slow in Gateway race

by Dan Verdun

Eastern's softball team stumbled out of the starting blocks of the Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conference race by dropping three of four games on its league-opening road trip to Iowa.

The Panthers, 12-6 overall and 1-3 in the GCAC, lost a Friday double-header to arch-rival Northern Iowa before splitting a Saturday twin bill at Drake.

"It was a tough way to open the conference season," coach Deanna D'Abbraccio said. "But the bottom line is getting ready for the conference tournament at the season's end."

Eastern saw its three-game winning streak snapped when Northern Iowa shut out the Panthers 2-0 in the opener. Senior Shelly Eddington gave up just one earned run, but the Panthers had virtually no offense, mustering only five hits.

"We didn't hit with any consistency," D'Abbraccio said. "We just didn't put it together."

Things looked brighter in the night-cap when Eastern took a 1-0 lead on a sacrifice fly by catcher Tangi Waldrop in the third inning.

The Panthers, however, could not hold on for the victory. Northern Iowa pushed across two runs in the bottom of the seventh to pull out a 2-1 win.

Panther shortstop Sara Karcher went 4-for-4 and outfielder Angel Lendvay garnered two hits to lead an Eastern attack that out-hit Northern Iowa 9-5.

The double-header had to be moved indoors to the UNI-Dome due to wet grounds. D'Abbraccio felt that playing inside gave Northern Iowa a definite advantage.

"We had a lot of foreign elements to contend with," D'Abbraccio said. "We had some problems seeing due to the multi-colored seats in the dome. It's a tough place to play softball."

A change of scenery appeared to help Eastern as the Panthers utilized the long ball to top Drake, 6-3, in Saturday's opener.

Lendvay blasted a two-run homer in the first inning to give the Panthers a 2-1 advantage.

After falling behind 3-2, Eastern rallied with four runs in the fourth inning to put things out of reach. The big blow of the inning came when freshman second baseman Tammi Patton—starting in place of the injured Jan Wamser—drilled a two-run homer.

Mogill, last week's GCAC player-of-the-week, earned the mound victory to boost her record to 6-2.

"Our hitting came around against Drake," D'Abbraccio said. "I think playing outside had a lot to do with it."

However, the Panthers' fortunes shifted in the second game. Drake hit Eddington for three runs in the first four innings to take an early lead.

Eastern, however, refused to fold. The Panthers rallied for a single run in the fourth and a pair in the sixth to knot the game at 3-3.

For the second straight day, Eastern suffered heartbreak in the seventh inning. With two out, Drake shortstop Karlin Hayes scored the deciding run from second base on a Texas-league single to give the Bulldogs a 4-3 win.

"Hayes really hurt us," D'Abbraccio said. "She was on base every time and her speed really hurt."

Eddington, who allowed eight hits, saw her record fall to 6-4 on the season.

"We didn't make the breaks and we didn't get the breaks," D'Abbraccio said of the trip.

Eastern hopes to get back on the winning track when the Panthers make their conference swing through the West next weekend at Southwest Missouri State and Wichita State.

scholarship open for Simmons.

"Of course the problem you have with this is, he could sign 10 scholarships to Eastern and then change his mind the next day and go somewhere else and be completely within his rights," Samuels stressed.

While at Lawrenceville, Simmons guided the Indians to a record 68-game winning streak and fans packed the 1,500-seat gymnasium for every game. But Simmons has left and former head coach Ron Felling is only a driving education instructor and also tends bar at the Elks Lodge in Lawrenceville, and the Indians have fell on extremely hard times.

With Simmons highlighting every game of Lawrenceville, averaging between 30 and 40 points, enthusiasm reached its peak as fans willed their season tickets to family members.

However, this past season, Lawrenceville finished with a lowly 4-20 record, and fans were staying away from Indian games in droves.

Simmons can identify with the "fall of the Indian empire," as he too reached new and unaccustomed lows at Indiana this past season, ballooning to a robust 250-pounds. His listed weight is 226-pounds on a 6-5 frame.

Not used to being an "also-ran," Simmons is hoping to reclaim his glory days at some other university which will be interested in his talents.

ANOTHER LIFE CHANGED BY JESUS CHRIST

My name is Sulin McCorkle. I am 21 years old and will be graduating in December, 1985 with a B.S. in Home Economics Education. I want to share how Jesus has become Lord of my life. In order to do so, I must start from the beginning.

I was orphaned in Korea at the age of five months. I must say that God was directing my life, even at this time, because He placed me in a Christian orphanage. This orphanage required adoptive parents to be Christians, so I was adopted into a loving, Christian family and at the age of seven, my mother led me to Christ and I accepted Jesus being the Lord of my life until I was a junior in high school. It was at this time that I totally committed my whole life to Christ and was determined to live a life that would be pleasing to God. I then graduated from high school and was trying to decide where to go to college when God led me here to Eastern. I can truly say He led me because the circumstances that led to my final decision showed clearly that his was where God wanted me to be. I had only been at Eastern one semester, Fall 1982, when it was discovered I had a brain tumor with a cyst on top and had my parents waited another day to take me to the doctor. I would have gone into a coma and, possibly, never woken up. When I discovered I would have to quit school to have brain surgery to drain the cyst, I was disappointed, to say the least. After surgery, I had to have six weeks of radiation treatments to shrink the tumor, which was inoperable. During this time, I really learned what it meant to depend on God for comfort and "inner" strength. Not only was God by my side during my sickness, but also my family and friends. I missed one semester of school while I was sick, but God healed me so I was able to return to school the following fall. God has been so good to me and I am happy to say that I can truly praise Him for seeing me through, not only trials and tribulations, but also times of blessings.

I wanted to write this, hoping that someone reading this would be encouraged and be blessed by this article. I hope and pray that anyone who does not clearly understand what I mean when I say Jesus is Lord of my life will feel free to ask me or someone else. I urge you not to put off seeking answers and God, for God is the answer.

Decathlon continues for 2nd day at O'Brien

Marc Pacatte

The pole vault will hold the key to Eastern's success in the final day of the annual decathlon Monday. Eastern's two participants, juniors Roxy Wood and Tom Lindsay, are ranked third and fourth respectively in the mid-way tally with Wood holding 3,003 and Lindsay 3,093 points.

Men's track coach Neil Moore said the pole vault could turn things around for the Panther decathletes since their jumps bested the Indiana entrants by more than two feet.

Points in a decathlon are earned by rankings from events that calculate times and heights for each of the ten events. Moore said, for instance, one-tenth of a second in the 100 meter dash is worth 23 points.

The name of the game in a decathlon is to "go out," Moore said. "You're probably not going to win every event; you'll be better in some and worse in others. If you blow one, you don't dwell on it."

The goal is to finish somewhere in the middle every event, he added, "and you'll probably win."

The first-day record for Eastern's decathlon was set in 1980 by Dave Bolton from Washington University, who tallied 3,645 points. He also went on to set the overall record with 7,111 points.

Although Moore said the five participants will have a hard time breaking that, it might be possible.

Indiana State's Mark Williamson leads the pack at the halfway mark with 3,329 points. His teammate Tracy Minto racked up 3,311 for second and Bob

Eastern's Roxy Wood hits the sand in long jump competition in the EIU Decathlon Saturday at O'Brien Stadium. Wood enters Monday's final day in third place. (News photo by Micheal Sitarz) Roselli, also from ISU, trails in fifth place with 2,460.

Moore said Roselli's score suffered by him not scoring any points in the high jump after missing his first jump at 5'7".

He added for that reason, the pole vault "will go on and on tomorrow."

The decathletes, mindful of Roselli's burn in the high jump, "will start very low and inch their way up" in the vaulting, Moore said, because "the higher you go, the more points you score."

Lindsay can go 15'9" and Wood 16', Moore said, while Williamson lists his jumps at 11' and Minto at 11'. "We could have a big gain right there," Moore said.

"If we have a very good vaulting day and get our points up," while successfully holding the top two off in the 1500 meter run, Eastern could do well when the final points are tallied up, Moore said.

"They're better than us in the 1500, and we're about even in the javelin and discus," he added.

"So we can't let them beat us too much" in the 1500.

The second-day events get underway at 10 a.m. Monday at O'Brien Stadium with the 110-meter high hurdles.

After that, the times are approximate, depending upon whether the decathletes opt to take their full rest periods of 30 minutes between each event.

The discus will begin between 10:15 and 10:45, the pole vault between 11-11:30, the javelin between 12:50-1:20, and the final event, the 1500, should get underway between 1:25 and 1:55.

Moore added the pole vault may be moved indoors because of inclement weather—the high jump was held inside Sunday—but the 1500 will be run outside "no matter what."

He urged spectators to come and see "this unique event" and "cheer our guys on."

Trackmen survive SEMOtion relays

Marc Pacatte

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo.—Eastern's men's track team came out of the annual SEMOtion relays at Southeast Missouri State with exactly what they were hoping for—no injuries.

"That's what I was most concerned about," head coach Neil Moore said Sunday.

He said the unscored meet is notorious for its "terrible" weather conditions, and this year was no different.

"On Friday we ran under a tornado threat with rain, hail, and wind. It was bad news." On Saturday, he said. "It was just cold and windy."

He added that, considering the weather, "we were most fortunate" in avoiding injuries.

Moore kept senior Claude Magee and junior Greg Anderson from running at SEMO because of possible injuries.

Aside from the weather, Moore said there were some "bright spots" in the Panthers' performance this weekend.

Junior weightman Larry Thoennissen finished fourth in the hammer with a 152'2" throw for the highest Eastern finish of the meet.

Jim Lail and the two-mile relay team provided Eastern with its two fifth place finishes.

Lail threw the shot 56'3" and sophomores Jim Chandler, Tom Caldwell, Dan Johnson, and junior Andy Schoneman ran a 7:59.07 two-mile. The splits were 1.59, 2.01, 1.59, and 1.57 respectively.

The Panthers garnered two sixth place finishes as well. Senior Mitch McClure ran the 3,000-meter steeplechase in 9.33 and junior Bob Mazanke threw the discus 162'10".

Moore said more than 1,000 men and women participated in the relays. The meet "is getting more and more prestigious every year, and its getting tougher," he said.

He added that the competition was "outstanding."

The Panthers will travel to Indiana State this weekend for a double dual meet with the women's track teams at 11 a.m. Terre Haute time Saturday.

Eastern netters post dual victories

David Brown

Playing what tennis coach John Bennett described as the "most inspiring tennis of the season," the Eastern netters scored two impressive victories over the weekend.

The Panthers dominated William Penn College, sweeping the Oskaloosa, IA team 9-0. Bennett and the team were pleased with the victory, but knew their toughest match of the day had yet to be played against Western Illinois University.

The Leathernecks had a four-game winning streak going. One of those victories came at the expense of Bradley University, a team that defeated the Panthers earlier in the year.

The stage was set for what looked like a great match between two teams of equal ability but what developed was a 8-1 trouncing by the Panthers. Eastern won all but one match.

"We played excellent and this was our best outing of the year," Bennett said. "Everybody played well."

Scott Fjelstad turned in another strong performance, beating Brad Redding at the No. 1 singles action 6-2, 6-4. "Scott had to play intelligent," Bennett said. "He came back from a 4-1 deficit in the second set and won 6-4."

"I played my best match of the season," Fjelstad said. "I was down 1-4, 30-love in the second set and (Redding) was out to get me."

Redding, standing at 6'4" and weighing some 200 pounds, proved to be a formidable opponent. "He played very hard—in excess of 100 m.p.h.," Fjelstad said. But it was Fjelstad's serve that prevailed.

"I served well and had a number of aces," Fjelstad said. "The whole match was intense. It was great."

"I was pumped up for Western," Fjelstad said. "I thought I'd have to get the rest of the team motivated too, but they were already pumped up. It's so great to beat Western in anything. We beat them like a rug on their home court. We should have won 9-0."

Fjelstad wasn't the only one who was impressive for the Panthers. John Suter, being pushed to three sets in the No. 2 singles action, won the deciding set 6-3 over the Leathernecks Bill Latour. "Suter played a tough player," Bennett said.

Eric Laffey held down the No. 3 slot in singles for the Panthers, defeating Walter Sheldon 6-4, 6-4. Senior Bob Kirkwood beat George Brumis 6-2, 6-4 at the No. 4 singles and Mark Matijasevich rounded out the singles victories for the Panthers, soundly defeating Greg Weber 6-1, 6-1 at the No. 6 position.

The lone set-back of the day occurred at the No. 5 singles slot where Leatherneck Ed Wyciga beat Don Carstens 4-6, 7-6, 6-4.

Fjelstad and Suter teamed up to down Redding and Latour 6-2, 6-7, 6-4 in the No. 1 doubles action. Laffey and Kirkwood easily defeated Sheldon and Brumis 6-1, 6-1 as Carstens and Matijasevich downed Wyciga and Neaville 6-2, 6-3.

"All the doubles teams are improving and playing consistent," Bennett said.

Leatherneck coach Michelle Gelfman said she was very disappointed with the Western's performance. "We were extremely inconsistent," she said. "We're just not a good team in cold, windy weather."

Layoff hurt lady tracksters early meets—Lowery

by Tim Lee

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo.—The SEMOtion Relays, Eastern's women's track team's first meet in five weeks, went off uneventfully for coach Dan Lowery, but the extended vacation may have had an effect on his troops.

"The long layoff helped our healing," Lowery said, commenting on the number of injuries experienced during the indoor season, "but it has hurt our early performances. It will help us later though, as we should be peaking around conference."

The meet was attended by host Southeast Missouri State, Eastern, Purdue, Illinois State, Indiana State, Southern Illinois, Alabama, DePaul, Southern Illinois-Edwardsville, Northeast Missouri State, Ball State, Murray State, Missouri-Mizzou, Tennessee State, Lincoln College, Blackhawk College (East Campus), Mankato State and Wayland State. It was also attended by numerous track clubs. No team scores were kept.

The big newsmakers for the Panthers were the weight throwers, one of whom recorded the best Eastern finish of the weekend and another set a school record.

Denise Macon threw the discus 139-10, bettering the former school mark of 138-11 by Sue Fortune in 1977 but only placed sixth.

"The (record) throw was in the pouring rain and 38 degree temperature," Lowery said. "So we are expecting her to do better. She has been throwing around the 140's in practice, so we'll be hearing from her as the year goes on."

Valeta Strickland took fourth in the shot put to lead all Panther competitors with a throw of 46-5.

Also doing well for the Panthers were their relay teams, which all placed high in their heat. Final places will not be known until later in the week.

The 4 x 400 relay (Drenna Veasley, Barbara Reed, Lauren Lynch, and Tracy Olawumi), and the 4 x 100 (Veasley, Sabrina Harper, Olawumi, and Reed) took first in their respective heats. Also the distance medley of Lynch, Debbie Ziolkowski, Lisa Jostes and Janine Jarris placed sixth overall.

Eastern will compete again Saturday at 10 a.m. (Illinois time) at Indiana St.

Simmons leaving Indiana, Eastern in market

Former Mr. Basketball shopping around for more playing time

by Michael Chron

Indiana University basketball player and former Mr. Basketball of Illinois of 1983, sophomore Marty Simmons, is shopping around for a new place to play basketball, and Eastern is right at the top of his list.

"Marty's been on campus the last week working out with our team," Eastern head coach Rick Samuels confirmed Sunday. "But I should point out that he's been here before, and dates a girl on campus. He has even stayed overnight with members of our team."

While Samuels would not be more specific, perhaps because of strict NCAA rules regarding the transfer of a player, Simmons announced last week he was leaving Indiana and getting out of coach Bobby Knight's dog house to look for a new place to play basketball.

"I have no idea where I might be going," Simmons said.

Since the announcement on Thursday, it has been speculated that Simmons would follow newly-hired Randy Crews to Evansville University. Crews has been a former assistant to Knight and it was only a matter of time before he stepped up to a head coaching position.

A high-placed source told The Daily Eastern News the chances are "75 percent he'll come to Eastern and 25 percent he'll go to Evansville."

"Marty has a lot of friends on the Eastern campus and he would fit into the environment here very well. Evansville has problems and I think Marty will think twice before winding up at Evansville," the source continued.

The "problems" referred to concern the latest disclosure that Southern Illinois-Carbondale head coach Allen Van Winkle directed illegal cash payments from Carbondale chiropractor Dr. Roy S. White to 6-11 center Ken Perry, a transfer from Evansville.

Saluki assistant Stafford Stephenson was the actual go-between man, and he resigned that post Thursday after public disclosure of the fact.

Stephenson said in a public statement that he discussed such payments with Van Winkle. The SIU head coach denied such talks ever took place, but White said "that Van Winkle is directly involved...there's no question about that."

While charges continued to fly over the weekend, it is interesting the role which Evansville plays in the scene is the fact that Perry was a former standout for the Purple Aces.

Another note of interest is the fact that Stephenson joined the SIU coaching staff in June of 1981, after serving in the same position at Evansville for four years under the late Bobby Watson.

"I think you're going to hear more about Evansville in the weeks to come," the source continued. "The scandal at Southern is really only the tip of the iceberg concerning cheating and illegal cash payments."

"It is for this reason that I think Simmons is going to think twice before going to Evansville. Southern isn't the only school with problems and it's going to be interesting to follow Simmons' progress."

Another close source said Sunday morning, "Marty hasn't made any kind of a decision yet."

"We've had absolutely no contact with Simmons," emphasized Samuels, "or conversation of any kind. The only thing I can say is that he was on campus working out with the team this past week."

National letter day is Wednesday, and Samuels is hopeful of a bumper crop. The coach stated earlier that he has six scholarships to give out and that he has two commitments.

Simmons has said that it "might be midsummer" before making a commitment, and if this is the case it would be assumed that Samuels would sign only five players, leaving the sixth

Sluggers sweep 3 of 4 from Purdue Hot-hitting offense leads Panthers to 37 runs

by Jeff Long

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind.—Eastern's baseball team re-discovered its offense over the weekend, and it paid dividends as the Panthers swept three of four from Purdue.

The Panthers, who upped their record to 16-6-1, exploded for 37 runs in their near-sweep of the Boilermakers.

Eastern completely dominated the first game on Saturday en route to a 10-0 whitewashing. Starter Mike Stenkamp was flawless, holding the Boilermakers to four hits. The righthander pitched the entire game to move his record to 3-1 on the season.

"Stenkamp pitched a beautiful ballgame," Eastern coach Tom McDevitt said. "That was really a masterpiece."

Stenkamp also had plenty of offense to back him up, spearheaded by Kevin Smith's four-RBI performance, including a home run. Tim Torricelli added three RBI's and also a homer for Eastern.

In the second game Saturday, the Panthers had to hold off a late Purdue rally to emerge with a 10-9 win. Eastern had entered the final inning with a 10-4 lead before yielding five runs.

Eastern had tied the score at two in the fourth inning on a solo homer by Tim Parker. The Panthers then went ahead to stay with five runs in the fifth inning.

Freshman Brian Corn (3-1) received the win with relief help from Paul Skorupa and Jim Wilkins, who was credited with the save.

Sunday, the Panthers' weekend remained perfect with a 12-3 win. Eastern racked up 11 hits, including a grand-slam by Torricelli and a three-run homer by Parker.

Mick Freed (3-1) got the win, striking out four and walking three.

Sunday's nightcap went to extra innings where Purdue came out a 6-5 winner. The Boilermakers got the winning run with one out in the bottom of the eighth. Wilkins was the hard-luck loser.

Sunday's games were originally scheduled to be played at Eastern, but the threat of rain made both coaches agree to stay at Purdue, which has a tarp for its field.
